San Clemente's Financial Ills Cured By $2500 Cash

CITY COUNCIL SOOTHED BY BANK MOVE

Action to End Service in Beach Town Taken Back Last Night
HOT CLASH IS ENDED
Institution Gets Clean Bill of Health After Row With Officials

By PAUL VISSMAN
"I bruise easy, but I heal quick!"
That might be a motto to hang over the door of San Clemente's city hall today.

After suffering severe financial bruises Tuesday and Wednesday, the city and city council in the process of healing with the best soothing salve in the world—actual cash—being applied by the Bank of America.

Threats that after Nov. 1 all city departments, with the exception of the police and water departments, would cease functioning, have been taken back and the San Clemente city council in a special session last night adopted a resolution rescinding its action of Monday night which ordered the following services discontinued after Nov. 1: All city rental, operation of the golf course, maintenance of the streets, plaza, beach club, social club, beach and pier, ornamental trees, street lights and paid fire department.

The council met last night after the Bank of America late yesterday notified Mayor A. T. Smith that the $2500, requested by the city to meet current payroll, had been deposited to the city's credit. The money is a loan to the city covered by warrants.

Thomas Walker, an official of the Bank of America, contacted today by The Journal, said that on Tuesday, following action of the San Clemente city council in virtually closing the town, his institution had withdrawn its offer to advance money to the city, but that later city officials "saw the folly of their ways and asked the bank to reconsider its action."

This we agreed to do if the council would rescind its resolution and explain the situation.

The clash between the city administration and the bank first became public property when Mayor Smith declared that the city was without funds to meet the current payroll and owed a total debt of $71,889.30, including bond interest and redemption. He said that the bank owed the (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

James Irvine Orange County's Biggest Farmer Tells The Journal a Few Things About Water and Engineers and Ignores Dinner Bell

By ROCH BRADSHAW
JAMES IRVINE took time out at the end of a busy day yesterday to grant The Journal's request for a little gossip about water.

"I would be in sympathy with any reasonable program for water conservation and flood control," he said as we sat opposite each other in the office which is the nerve center for the big Irvine ranch. "But I don't know what kind of plan might be proposed. Would it be good business or common sense to commit yourself to a proposition before you know what it is?"

Yesterday's wind was still blowing outside. In the orchards on the ranch thousands of dollars' worth of young fruit had been whipped from the trees. Mr. Irvine had only recently returned from a trip. He had not had time to inspect his losses.

But we talked for an hour or more about water, and as we conversed I could feel the pulse of a great ranch and its business going on about me. Out in the lobby was the telephone switchboard, and the teletype machine which keeps the office in constant touch with the markets of the world.

Beyond that were other offices where managers, superintendents and engineering staff were at work handling the many details of the ranch operation and fitting them together to make a complete picture of efficient management.

The door opened and a man came in with the latest mail (Please Turn to Page 9, Col. 4)

CUBA FACING WIDOW TELLS NEW STORM NEW STORY

Disturbance Following Fatal Hurricane May Hit Island
Says Johnson Known in Beverly Hills as Mr. Engstrom

HAVANA, Oct. 24. (P)—A new storm plagued Cuba today in the wake of a hurricane which swept the eastern part of the island and took one life.

An advisory warning from the national observatory early today said the center of the disturbance was 100 miles northwest of Point Negril, Jamaica, and moving north-northwest.

If the storm intensifies, said the observatory, it will endanger the western half of Cuba.

TEMBLORS FELT IN SANTA ANA

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24. (P)—A distinct earthquake, apparently not strong enough to cause damage, was felt in a region from 30 to 50 miles east of here at approximately 6:50 a. m. (P. S. T.), today.

Anaheim reported one fairly strong shock at that time, and at Riverside four different tremors were felt at about minute intervals, the first and last the strongest of the series.

The epicenter was about 60 miles from here, perhaps southeast of Riverside.

At least two earthquakes were felt in Santa Ana shortly before 7 o'clock this morning, but were so slight that no damage was done.

25 Per Cent Of Fruit Ruined Here; Southland Loss Totals $8,000,000

FIRE DAMAGE PLACED AT 4 MILLION

Three Counties' Crops Loss Estimated at $3,500,000

MALIBU BLAZE RAGES

Movie Stars' Homes in Path of Uncontrolled Coastal Flames

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24. (P)—Eight million dollars damage was the estimated toll of wind and fire growing out of Southern California's mid-week windstorm.

Crop damage in Los Angeles, Riverside, Orange and San Bernardino counties was estimated at $3,500,000, chiefly to citrus, avocados, and walnut groves.

Fire damage was listed as $3,000,000 to watershed, forest and grazing acreages and $1,000,000 to residences, estates and cabins.

Another half million dollars of damage was done to shipping small boats, oil derricks, automobiles and miscellaneous destruction by the wind.

Fire Flares Up

The big Malibu fire popped up and down today. Shortly after noon, when it had been thought under control after burning over 25,000 acres, it flared down another canyon again menacing the Malibu beach movie colony, as well as the Las Flores canyon a mile and a half closer to Santa Monica.

Just about the time a strong wind veered and turned flames from further progress in the Malibu hills, an earthquake, extending from San Diego inland as far north as Pasadena, jolted light sleepers at 6:50 a. m., but apparently caused no damage.

Although 1400 fire fighters remained on duty in the Malibu area, the flames there, which during the night extended along a front 10 miles wide and five miles deep, were believed to have been checked by a cross wind that blew them toward the sea.

Encouraging reports were received from the Altadena-Arroyo Seco-La Canada area, where about 75 residences were destroyed, public and private property damage was estimated at $400,000, and loss of watershed and potential erosion at $2,500,000. Many crews were still at work pumping water on spot fires jumping up from smoldering embers, but the county fire warden and forest service workers believed they had the situation under control, barring fresh winds.

Traffic on six major state highways was still blocked in places today by drifted sand, uprooted trees and fire fighting activities.

Subsidence of wind at the harbor permitted ships delayed off the breakwater to enter port, however. Linemen were restoring service to more than 1000 telephones (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

CLIPPER LANDS AT ALAMEDA

The trip from Hawaii was made in 17 hours and 30 minutes.

Jimmy's Coming Back Home

Jimmy Walker, former mayor of New York, is coming home, according to Associated Press dispatches. For several years Jimmy has lived in England where he "exiled" himself after resigning as New York's mayor in the midst of inquiries into the conduct of his office and payment of income taxes. Here he is shown with Mrs. Walker, the former Betty Compton, leaving a sanitarium in France where he took a health cure. For further details see page 2.

6,000 Townsend Followers On Hand As Convention Of Clubs Is Opened In Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 24. (P)—Oldsters, estimated by their leader to number 6000, gathered in a downtown hotel today to open Dr. F. E. Townsend's drive to provide $200 a month spending money for all retired Americans of 60 or more years.

Dr. Townsend's assistants said that 60 per cent of the delegates at this—the first national convention of his followers—were over 60. Under Dr. Townsend's plan the money would be supplied by the government, provided the recipients spend it every 30 days.

The delegates, who sang and cheered as they waited in the hotel ballroom for Dr. Townsend to appear, were intent on launching a campaign "in every congressional district" for passage at the next session of congress, of the Townsend plan bill. It was introduced by Representative John Steven McGroarty, Los Angeles Democrat, at the last congress.

BOY SCOUTS TO HEAR LEADER

COUNTY BUSY CLEANING UP AFTER WIND

All Brush Fires Are Out in District; High School Not Open

AVOCADOS HARD HIT

Million Pounds on the Ground, Declares Dr. D. D. Waynick

Orange county today was well on its way toward repairing the damage caused by high winds Tuesday night and Wednesday. The loss to the citrus crop, however, cannot be made up, and it was estimated by Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg that 25 per cent of the new crop throughout the county was on the ground. This estimate is higher than that of yesterday, which was between 10 and 15 per cent.

All brush fires have been extinguished. Work was under way to clear the debris where 45 oil derricks fell in the Richfield and Huntington Beach oil fields. The Southern California Edison company and Southern California Telephone company were rapidly restoring service where it had been interrupted.

School Still Closed

The Santa Ana High school was still closed today. It will resume a restricted schedule on Monday, and Principal Lynn Crawford said he hoped that by Wednesday the regular schedule can be resumed. The school was shut down when tents used to replace earthquake-damaged buildings were torn so badly they could not be used.

Mr. Crawford said today that seven students have left the high school and enrolled at other nearby institutions rather than continue in the tents. Each pupil gone represents a loss of $90 a year in attendance allotments from the state, he said.

Dr. D. D. Waynick of the Association Laboratories at Anaheim, in a preliminary estimate today, said that 12 per cent of the county's citrus crop had been toppled to the ground in Orange county. This would mean a loss of more than $2,000,000 based on last year's orange crop value of $20,084,702.

Estimate Revised

Dr. Waynick said that 35 per cent of the old orange crop is on the ground. No estimate was made on lemon or navel orange loss.

After a survey of the county. (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

ISLAND RIOTS ARE QUELLED

KINGSTOWN, St. Vincent, B. W. I., Oct. 24. (P)—British bluejackets and police restored peace to riot-torn Kingstown and the isle of St. Vincent today.

Marital law declared after three Negro strikers had been killed and eight others wounded, continued.

Stores and homes had been looted and wrecked; highways had been torn up. Forty-two rioters were under arrest. Labor troubles and racial feeling incident to the Italo-Ethiopian war caused the disturbance.

BOY BABY BORN IN WELL

SANFORD, N. C., Oct. 24. (P)—The seven-pound son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Jordan was healthy and happy today—as was his mother—even if he was born at the bottom of a well.

Mrs. Jordan, Near Gulf, went to a well at her home Tuesday to draw water. She became faint and toppled over, falling down the shaft into several feet of water.

THRUST FROM ERITREA IS EXPECTED

Selassie Delays Leaving for Battle Front Until Anniversary
INVASION CONTINUES
Rains Holding Up War in South, Declares Black General

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 24. (P)—Reports of a great battle raging in the Webbe Shibli river sector spread throughout Addis Ababa today.

They rose soon after news of a mountain concentration of Ethiopian troops, drawn up to resist the Italian invasion on the southern front.

Dedjazmatch Nasibu, governor of Harar province and commander of Ethiopia's southern forces, reported from Dire Dawa that his warriors, although ridden with scurvy, were concentrating in the mountain ravines and passes, prepared to defy the troops of Gen. Rodolfo Graziani.

Word reached through the bazaars that the Ethiopians and Italians already were fighting, but the capital still awaited official confirmation.

While there was no news from the northern front to indicate that the forces of Ras Seyoum and Gen. Emilio de Bono had escaped their stalemate, military observers believed the Italians would make another thrust to the south next week.

Emperor Haile Selassie still intended to respect his oathsworn warning not to go to the front before the fifth anniversary of his coronation Nov. 2, but it was believed in some quarters that a big Italian push before that date might send him hurrying to Desse, major troop concentration point.

The crown prince, who is now at Desse, northeast of here on the central plateau, was expected to command the Addis Ababa garrison during his father's absence.

ITALY'S 'PEACEFUL' ADVANCE CONTINUES

ROME, Oct. 24. (P)—Italy's peaceful penetration of the Ethiopian province of Tigre beyond the lines now occupied by its troops continues, it was reported in today's official communiqué.

Otherwise the official announcement said, there were no new developments on the Eritrean front.

RAINS DELAYING WAR, DECLARES GENERAL

(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)
HARAR, Ethiopia, Oct. 24.—Dedjazmatch Nasibu, after an extensive tour of the Southern Ethiopian sector confronting Italian Somaliland, told the Associated Press today heavy rains still made large scale military operations there impossible.

"The rains will continue another fortnight, thus blocking Italian maneuvers which thus far have been confined to sporadic air raids and attacks on our frontier posts along the Webbe Shibli river," the general asserted.

"All reports about the big battles are pure fiction. So are stories alleging widespread use of gas by the Italians."

VOTE CANADIAN LABOR LEADER

GENEVA, Oct. 24. (P)—Walter Riddell of Canada was unanimously elected chairman today of the governing body of the International Labor organization. Riddell will serve for one year. He succeeds M. Demicheli of Italy.

HASTY HODGEPODGE OF SPORTING NEWS
PARAGRAPHS AND PONDERRINGS: Joe Louis will second John Henry Lewis, a new colored star, in his light-heavyweight title bout with Bob Olin at St. Louis come Oct. 31. Can't remember ever hearing of a colored champion below the light-heavyweight class.

Longest football run we've heard of this year is 102 yards. One of those freaks, McKinley of Rensselaer, took the ball on kick formation and ran that distance against Clarkson U.

Talking with Sam Sampson the other night and he convinced us his new set-up at the 101 highway arena will be the peachiest thing yet. He's gonna put in stoves. That, in addition to the new roof, will make the place just as comfy as home. Not only that, but Sam will celebrate his new roof with some more bouts such as made wrestling the county's most popular sport for a while. Strangler Lewis and Vincent Lopez are definitely coming.

As you watch the progress of the L. A. Examiner's Golden Gloves tourney, watch for the name of one Bud Holzhauser. Bud will be representing the Orange County Athletic club in the tourney, thanks to kindness of Proctor Sampson. Sam will put Holzhauser into the tourney. Sam thinks the Long Beach kid has everything he needs to become a great fighter—except that he won't mind his father on occasions and refuses to train. Then Saving Sam steps in, tells the boy he won't get him good fights here, and the kid snaps out of it.

THE MANAGEMENT is hoping to put him into the ring with Lupe Le Mon soon. Le Mon, some say, is not too anxious for the bout while Bud claims he will stop the husky Fullerton kid cold. Bud noted on Sailor Jack Hippis in his first local fight and while he was plainly not in shape he didn't look like any two-bit fighter.

Don't sell that Stanford loss short because of a one-point loss to U. C. L. A. You may not care to take our advice in this matter since a glance at the "nervy nine" department will reveal that we are keeping the bottom from falling off the list, but just the same. Injuries or no injuries, Stanford is strong enough to stop Washington. And that rail journey down is the only thing that makes Oregon an underdog to U. C. L. A.

You will razz the razzlers, will you? Go ahead, but Gus Sonnenberg will quit the hug and tug racket two years hence with $100,000 in the bank. Never heard of a pension fund for retired grapplers, either. . . . Stub Allison, California grid coach, had to wait 15 years to win his first game in the Pacific coast conference. . . . Joe Louis and his bride are coming out to Hollywood to star in a movie which will also feature the four Mills brothers.

The great Dizzy Dean, in Los Angeles for an exhibition game, blames the management for doubting his ability in recent barnstorming stands. News stories said Dizzy walked out and refused to pitch when less than 400 turned out for games—Dizzy says the management called off the games. O, yes, Diz has netted $4300 during the tour. Nice work if you can get it.

ALLISON SEES SLIM VICTORY

BERKELEY, Oct. 24. (AP)—"Stub" Allison's quiet pessimism gave way to outright optimism today, and on the strength of the sudden change bay region football fans saw signs auguring no good for University of Southern California in the Trojan-University of California clash here Saturday. Allison, during his short reign as head coach here, has built a reputation as a pessimist. When he came out with smiles today and admitted his Golden Bears looked "very good" in practice scrimmages, it was almost too much. He saved the day, however, by adding that if California wins, "it will be by a very slender margin."

EDDIE MADER, the heavyweight boxer who wouldn't take his mother's advice to enter the priesthood, wants a battle with Joe Louis, Detroit's Brown Bomber. The former choir-boy, a 190-pounder who started in the ring as a 105-pound amateur, has had more than 100 fights, 12 as a heavyweight.

Latter Day Saints, those battling Mormons who are defending champions of the Santa Ana Church league, make their first 1935-36 appearance in basketball at the Y. M. C. A. tonight.

Represented by a younger club in order that the players will be eligible for the national Mormon tournament annually held in Salt Lake City, Manager Bernard (Bus) Snow's Latter Day Saints match their basket-hitting ability with the Christian Missionary Alliance at 7:30.

The South Methodists and Nazarenes perform in the nightcap at 8:30.

Erwin (Baldy) Foltz, scoring star last season, who dropped in more than 40 points in one game, and a newcomer, Eric Twist, paired the United Presbyterians, championship threats, to an easy 54-16 victory in the church league inaugural last night. St. Peter's Lutheran outfit was the victim. Forward Foltz accounted for 21 points, Center Twist for 17. The Presbyterians had good teamwork for so early in the season.

George Padias, forward, and LeRoy (Chub) Sears, guard, are the hold-over regulars from the Mormon five. Bill Lee, reserve, probably will win a berth on the first string. Others seeking positions are Ray Short, Vern Williams, Jack Sandstrom and Ernie Acker. Manager Snow, an accomplished player, will compete part-time in some of the crucial games, he said.

Commercial league basketball rivals sized up Costa Mesa as a leading championship threat today, after watching the Mesans, with three former Santa Ana High school or Junior college stars in their lineup, outclass the Union Oilers, 42 to 17, at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Asa Herren, high-scoring forward and ex-Saint; Harold Spangler, 6 ft. 4 in., center from Santa Ana Junior college; and Melvin Beatty, Oregon State athlete who also played at Junior college, are among the Costa Mesa regulars. Nelson Crowley, veteran forward, led his team in scoring with 20 points. Herren was a close second with 16.

Forward Alex Clark, whose usual position is at guard, annexed six points to lead his Union Oil teammates.

The Orange County Prep league's football armies battle on five fronts tomorrow afternoon. Swinging into the second week of play, Brea's Wildcats and Orange's Panthers mix at Newport and Tustin's Farmers travel to Placentia for an engagement with the Valencia Lions. All are undefeated, and two lively games should result.

Argonauts at Anaheim
Anaheim's champions perform at home against Garden Grove's Argonauts; Huntington Beach's Oilers play the Tars at Newport Harbor; San Juan Capistrano's Cougars visit Laguna Beach.

Built around Quarterback Del Jones—last of five brothers to play at Fullerton or Placentia—Clarence Bishop's Valencias have begun clicking early, and will be slightly favored over Tustin. They turned back Garden Grove, 27-12, last week, and a win from Tustin will send them undefeated into their "big" game with Brea at Fullerton a week from tomorrow night.

Feature at Orange
The real feature probably will be the Brea-Orange encounter. The Wildcats and Panthers have met one co-main foe—Huntington Beach. They won by 27-0 and 20-0 scores, respectively.

H. S. GRIDMEN REST UNTIL MONDAY

Idle in the Coast Preparatory league this week, Santa Ana's Saints will receive a vacation from football drill today and tomorrow. Classes at the high school also have been dismissed until tents ripped by the wind can be repaired.

Coaches Bill Foote and Reece Greene will call out their griders again Monday to begin preparation for their first interconference game at home—with Alhambra's Moors at Poly field a week from Saturday.

Leonard Stafford, regular back, is hobbling around on a cane. He has a severe charley horse, but probably will be able to drive next week. The brief rest will give some of the other Saints a chance to recover from bruises received at Long Beach.

COACH OPPOSES OLYMPIC BAN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24. (AP)—University of Southern California's highly successful track coach, Dean Bartlett Cromwell, today had taken a firm stand against the proposed Olympic games embargo against Germany.

Called upon to speak before a Jewish organization, Dr. B. R. H. here yesterday, Cromwell pointed out that the "political and social upheaval" in Germany had nothing to do with the 1936 Olympic games, and ventured the statement that it is poor logic for the United States to become "embroiled in another country's social and political problem" at the expense of American athletes who are anxious to compete in the games.

Journal Guessers Unanimously Agree On Five Games

California will tame the Trojan war-horse. Notre Dame will sink the Navy. Princeton will beat Cornell. Santa Ana Junior college will stage a comeback against Chaffey. Valencia will trounce Tustin.

The Journal's "Nervy Nine" unanimously select the above teams to win in their Football Scores Guessing contest this week. They disagree as to the outcome of seven other games.

Coach Bill Foote of Santa Ana High school is leading the prognosticators with the low score of 706 points; Scribe Paul Wright is second with 728; Coach Reece Greene of Santa Ana High school third, 729; Coach Clyde Cook of Santa Ana High school fourth, 732; Coach Al Reboin of Santa Ana Junior college fifth, 789; Coach Clyde Patton of Santa Ana High school sixth, 849; Coach Bill Cook of Santa Ana Junior college seventh, 851; Coach Bill Cole of Tustin High school eighth, 887; and Scribe Frank Rogers ninth, 966.

JOHNNY REVOLTA'S PUTTER WINS HIM P.G.A. TITLE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 24. (AP)—Johnny Revolta, who played his first golf with clubs made of broomsticks, ruled as king of the Professional Golfers association today.

His sceptre a mallet touched putter that needed three strokes on but one green of the 172 he covered, the curly-haired Milwaukee youth drove the gray-tinged Tommy Armour from the Johnny Revolta finals yesterday 5 and 4 with a relentless bombardment of par.

Armour, flying the colors of the old guard of golf, was not surprised that he fell before the remarkable short game of his 24-year-old antagonist. Long before the final match ended, the veteran Tommy said, with a pensive gesture, "what can any man do against a short game like that boy has?"

"Defeating Walter Hagen in the first round gave me the confidence that carried me through," Revolta said. "This is an anniversary present for my wife, and incidentally I'm rather pleased with it."

DON GRIDMEN NOT FEARED AT ONTARIO

Santa Ana Junior college's invasion of Ontario Saturday afternoon will not disturb in the least Chaffey's Panthers, who are not yet convinced the Dons are a championship football collection.

Chaffey, according to inland reports, rates its game with Santa Ana far below those with San Bernardino, Citrus and Riverside.

Play Over Heads
Ontario newspapers look upon Santa Ana's 26-19 win over Riverside as a stunning upset. They believe the Dons were playing over their heads in that game, and "slipped" back into their expected form in losing to Citrus, 6 to 12.

Quarterback Oliver McCarter, fast-stepping Orange boy, who makes the Santa Ana offense click, has been out of school all this week because of illness in his family. He returned today, but absence from three drills may tell on him at Ontario.

Art Craft, running guard who has been instructed to learn the center position to compensate for the loss of Hal Youel and Bob Spray, probably will start at guard with Les Minder at center Saturday.

Spray in Gym Togs
Spray, recovering from a cracked left wrist, is working out in gym togs, but Cook has given up hope of using him against Chaffey. Chaffey's back into their expected form in losing to Citrus, 6 to 12.

Chaffey has a slow but heavy forward wall, and a dangerous open field runner in Fisher, quarterback who usually enters the game in the second quarter. Utman, giant tackle who has been shifted to guard, is a tower of strength in the line. Howard Weldon is a standout at right end.

SEVEN BOUTS ON PROGRAM TONIGHT

Pat Fraley Faces Masked Marvel on Mat; LeMon Will Fight Woods

They're mixing oil and water tonight at the Orange County Athletic club when the Fullerton post of the American Legion stages its first annual Christmas fund boxing-wrestling program. With weather permitting, a capacity crowd should sit in on the affair, the second of its kind held in this county in more than a year.

Strictly a legion promotion, Dr. John Menges, in charge of affairs for the legion, has arranged three high-class wrestling bouts and four all-star boxing battles for the evening.

Fraley vs. 'Marvel'
The rough and tumble Pat Fraley, winner over Ivan Mannagoff Monday night, steps out against the "Masked Marvel" in the three-fall feature wrestling match, while Lupe LeMon, Fullerton light-heavyweight scrapper, meets Tiger Woods in the star boxing bout of the night.

LeMon and Woods will be fighting for a crack at Bud Holzhauser, the "Blond Bomber" of Long Beach, within the next few weeks. Holzhauser has been signed for three fights here and wants to write off his long delayed bout with LeMon.

The price scale has been raised for tonight only, with tickets going from 40 cents to $1.50. The entire proceeds will be used by the legion for its Christmas charity work.

A heavy advance seat sale is reported, with Fullerton contributing the bulk.

When Pat Fraley defeated Mannagoff Monday night he was immediately signed to headline the wrestling end of tonight's show. Officials selected the "Masked Marvel" as the man to oppose Fraley, feeling that the Boston Irishman is the one man capable of pinning the unknown.

Steve on Card
Two one-fall matches bring out two popular wrestlers in Steve Strelch and Santa Ana's Danny Daniels, and two villains, Jose Valdez and Fred (Roughhouse) Carone. The latter meets Daniels, who is making his first start as a pro grappler. Valdez and Strelch clash in the semi.

Anaheim's Don Benzer, a flashy featherweight, meets Clover Wilson in the boxing semi-windup, with Jess Sanchez stepping four rounds or less against Charles Woods, and Chief Lopez going the same distance against the clever Chuckie Vasquez.

WEBFEET SQUAD ON WAY SOUTH
EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 24. (AP)—The University of Oregon football team, led by a sensational punter and a sparkling line smasher, rolled southward today for its game Saturday against University of California at Los Angeles.

Stan Rioridan, rugged end who has averaged 29.2 yards in his punts this season, and Frank Michie, speedy, shifty, hard-hitting fullback, are the best offensive weapons the Webfeet boast.

JOCKEY, PAL FACE CHARGE OF MURDER

Deny Responsibility in Auto Death of Woman
at Louisville, Ky.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 24. (AP)—Murder charges against Willie Saunders, smart little jockey who rode Omaha to Kentucky Derby and Preakness glory this year, and one of his pals, Walter Schaeffer, today met stout denials by both.

Saunders was at liberty under $5000 bond for preliminary hearing Oct. 31 in the slaying of Mrs. Evelyn Sliwinski during a wild party last Saturday night.

Schaeffer, driver of Saunders' car as the party went from one night club to another, was in custody at Baltimore facing a similar charge. He agreed to waive extradition.

Deny Responsibility

Both denied responsibility in the death of Mrs. Sliwinski, their party companion whose body was mangled by an automobile.

Schaeffer contradicted a statement by Mrs. Agatha Mackinson, second girl on the party, that the automobile was deliberately driven over Mrs. Sliwinski. His version of the party likewise disagreed in some particulars with that given by Saunders.

Saunders told Chief of Detectives Edward McEllott that Mrs. Sliwinski got out of the automobile when she became ill from too many drinks and was left at the roadside. They came back, he said, and at the point where Mrs. Sliwinski was put out he "felt a bump" and "had an idea they might have hit the girl."

All 'Pretty Drunk'

Saunders qualified this by saying he was in the back seat of the car and had no personal knowledge that they had struck the woman. He said the two women were intoxicated, but that he and Schaeffer were not. Schaeffer said all four were "pretty drunk." He agreed with Saunders' version that Mrs. Sliwinski became ill and asked to get out of the car. He drove the car away from where she got out, Schaeffer related, then after several miles turned around and came back.

Schaeffer said on the return trip he saw the young woman's body lying in the road, swerved to pass it, and saw another car coming from the opposite direction. He was frightened, he said, and continued on to Louisville.

STUDENT ENLISTS 200 IN JUNIOR COLLEGE PEP CLUB

Organizing school spirit has been the job of Freddie Pimental at Santa Ana High school during the past week when, as founder of the Pep club, he enlisted 200 students in forming an enthusiastic rooting section for the football games.

Girls belonging to the club are to dress in red and white and carry pompons. Members of the club will sit in a reserved section at all games. Organization of a girls' drill team is to be a proposed project of the club, young Pimental said.

Officers are to be elected this week and plans made for a dance. Two-fold in purpose, the club is to form an organized rooting section and also be responsible for getting out increased student attendance at the games.

Lakeland, Fla., has declared a "Write-a-Letter Week" during which all citizens are to write to out-of-state friends.

Defies Death

One of the most dangerous stunts that will be performed by Frank DeRiske, above, at the Elks circus which plays a week's engagement starting here next Monday in the 900 block on East Fourth street, is that in which he defies the laws of gravitation by doing a head balance on a spinning ball, in an opposite direction to a rotating trapeze. Members of the Elks lodge are busy with last-minute preparations for the big circus.

U. S. WILL SPEND $108,000 FOR AID OF STUDENTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24. (AP)—Aubrey Williams, director, has announced the National Youth administration will spend $108,000 a month providing part-time employment for more than 4000 graduate students in 136 colleges in 37 states and the District of Columbia.

Aid recipients, who get an average of $25 a month with a maximum of $30 for the first year for graduate work, and an average of $30 with a maximum of $40 for older students, include 2448 candidates for master's degrees and 1577 for doctor's degrees.

Participating institutions select students and the work they carry on, with the exception that work relief funds cannot be used for jobs formerly filled by regular university employees.

State allotments include: California, 10 institutions, 265 students

GALE HELPS NUT HARVEST Walnuts Grounded By Wind

Walnut growers found themselves benefitted by the high wind that did considerable damage to other crops in parts of Southern California, the California Walnut Growers association reported today to the Associated Press.

Walnuts are still being harvested and the harvest has been unusually slow to date. Tuesday night's high wind forced the harvest by blowing many nuts to the ground.

Some damage was caused to the walnut trees due to limb breakage but this cannot be estimated as yet.

Chief Deputy County Agricultural Commissioner K. L. Wolf of Los Angeles reported that damage in the north and eastern portions of that county was slight on oranges and lemons due to the type of wind Tuesday night. He said that the wind was steady whereas a fitful, strong wind is the kind which does damage.

Ventura county reported considerable damage to the orange and lemon crops with the major damage in the valencia crop still on the trees. This was expected to reduce by a small amount the valencias still to ship. Only slight damage was reported to the new crop navels there.

Selassie's Oracle Prevails Upon Him To Delay Departure

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 24. (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie was advised yesterday by his principal oracle and soothsayer that if he went to Dessie before his coronation anniversary Nov. 2, evil might befall.

The soothsayer, reading omens, told the emperor if he waited until after Nov. 2, Ethiopia's battle against Italy surely would be crowned with success.

The emperor, thereupon, decided to observe this coronation ceremony on Nov. 2, and on Nov. 3 to participate in the festival of St. George, the army's patron saint, and depart for Dessie afterward.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. (AP)—Aviation authorities disclosed late yesterday that four European experts, representing as many nations, have been assigned to investigations in the United States concerning the possibility of a "quick" establishment of regular transatlantic air routes.

It was indicated that "quick" meant within the next 12 months. The contemplated air services would transport not only mail and express, but passengers.

How Counties In State Got Their Names

The story of how California counties derived their names is an interesting part of the history of the Golden State. Believing that the thousands of tourists who annually motor over the state's great highway system would like to know how the counties they visit came by their names, Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly has had prepared from state records a series of brief stories of the origin and meaning of the names of the counties of California, including a few salient facts about each county.

MERCED COUNTY

Created April 19, 1855. This county derived its name from the Merced river, which originally was named by the Spanish "Rio de Nuestra Señora de la Merced," meaning "the river of Our Lady of Mercy."

Merced occupies a most strategic location. It is approximately in the center of the state and in the heart of the San Joaquin valley. The county has 3830 farms with a total acreage of 829,377. Highways and roads total 2000 miles. Diversity of agricultural products, fine cattle, the largest peach and apricot orchards, largest seedless raisin vineyards, abundance of water and a natural gateway to Yosemite National park are features for which the county is noted.

Merced has more than 318,722 acres under irrigation, ranking fourth in the state. More than 1500 miles of canals carry water to rich and productive soils, the systems representing an investment of $25,000,000. Dairying accounts for 50 per cent of the county's income. One lumber mill at Merced Falls, near Merced, has an annual lumber cut of over 50,000,000 feet annually, with a pay roll

COURT'S SCOPE IS ENLARGED

Santa Ana township justice court has county-wide jurisdiction in civil actions involving amounts up to $1000, according to a decision handed down by the state supreme court.

The decision was in the case of Gloria Cambra, who had petitioned a writ of mandate directing the justice court of Santa Ana township and Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison to receive and file a complaint arising from an automobile crash at Seal Beach. The case was taken to the supreme court to test validity of an amendment broadening jurisdiction of courts of the same classification as the Santa Ana court.

Mrs. Cambra had sought to recover damages amounting to $584 after the accident. The suit could not be filed in the Seal Beach township as the court there has jurisdiction only in cases involving damages up to $300. The filing was refused in the Santa Ana court on the grounds that its jurisdiction did not extend beyond the township, and a test case was ordered.

in excess of $1,000,000. In addition to rail lines, Merced has 237 miles of hard-surfaced highways, while 1750 miles of good, graded roads reach every section of the county. Population: 36,748. Area: 1995 square miles.

TRAIN SPEEDS AT 122 MILES PER HOUR; CLAIM MARK

OXFORD, Neb., Oct. 24. (AP)—The Burlington railroad's new streamlined train, "The Mark Twain," reached a top speed of 122 miles per hour west of Edison, Neb., yesterday and Burlington officials claimed a new world's record for train speeds.

The claim, however, may be disputed by the Pennsylvania railroad, which claims a record of 127.1 miles per hour was set by its "Broadway Limited" near Ada, O., June 12, 1905.

"The Mark Twain," one of the Burlington's new zephyr trains, hurtled over newly built tracks which replaced rails washed out by the Republican river floods of last June. The run started at McCook, Neb., where the valley's recovery from the flood was celebrated yesterday.

BOY GUNMAN HUNTED FOR SHOOTING OF DAVE SCHULTZ AND AIDES

TRIGGER MAN MOWS DOWN GANGMEN

Beer Baron, Four Others
Targets for Bullets;
One Victim Dies

(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Violent gang warfare which struck down Arthur (Dutch) Schultz, Fliegenheimer and four henchmen sent police today on a frantic search for a 21-year-old gunman accused of wholesale hoodlum slayings.

Endeavoring to put a swift stop to the worst outbreak of gang vengeance here since prohibition days, officers ordered the arrest of Albert Stern, already wanted for the ax murder yesterday of "Pretty Louie" Amberg.

Four Shot Down
Stern's picture was identified by three witnesses as that of the man who wounded a Schultz lieutenant in a brightly lighted Broadway barber shop last night shortly after the notorious ex-berber runner himself, his chauffeur and two bodyguards were shot in Newark, N. J. Two of the bodyguards, one of whom dashed outside to return the gunman's fire, died today.

Police were told to "shoot to kill," if they encountered Stern, apparently one of a group of trigger men designated to wipe out the Schultz gang.

Amberg's death, they reported, is the seventh recent underworld slaying of which he is accused.

Federal officials expressed interest in an adding machine slip with a long row of figures, left on a tavern table by Schultz and his companions.

The figures totaled $827,253.54, giving rise to speculation over whether they represented the 35-year-old Schultz's income. He is under indictment on income tax charges.

Seek Cabaret Chief
Deputy Chief Inspector Francis J. Kear also ordered a city-wide search for Charles (Lucky) Charlie Luciano, chain cabaret owner, whom he alleged was the "most powerful gangster in Manhattan."

Whether Luciano's associates might have decided to wipe out the Schultz gang in one sensational coup and seize control of every racket in the city.

Schultz, free under $50,000 bail on a charge of income tax evasion, was shot down with his chauffeur and two bodyguards in a hail of machine gun bullets in a Newark chop house.

Two assailants—one described by witnesses as a "big guy"—escaped in a black sedan.

Otto Berman, 46, one of the bodyguards, died of his wounds shortly after 10 p. m.

Schultz was in a critical condition with three bullet wounds, as was Bernard Rosekrantz, 36, the chauffeur, Leo Frank, Newark, who first said he was a bystander, died three hours after Berman had been wounded "shooting it out" with the invader.

Hoover, Borah May Not Run, But They Are Seen as Keys to Republican Puzzle of 1936

By BYRON PRICE

Chief of Bureau,
The Associated Press, Washington

Speculations about prospective Republican presidential candidacies cover a very wide range, but in the last analysis the center mainly around two men—Herbert Hoover and William E. Borah.

This does not mean that the nomination lies between these two. Indeed, the most prevalent guess of all is whether either of them will be a candidate at all.

It does mean, however, that no discussion of the outlook can go very far without someone saying either, "if we only knew what Hoover means to do," or "The thing would be much easier to figure if Borah could be induced to announce his real intentions."

For no matter how sure the political prophets may pretend to be when they speak for publication, it can be set down with certainty that they will remain disturbed and doubtful in their own minds unless and until Hoover and Borah declare themselves.

Republican Contrast
The reasons for this are apparent. The two are regarded by many voters as personifying the two Republican schools of thought.

Each possesses a potential influence not claimed by any other candidate. The strength of both seems to be augmented by the contrast in their personalities and methods, and by the fact that each is surrounded by a certain air of mystery.

Mr. Hoover is the titular leader of his party. He has been President. He polled (in 1928) more votes than any other Republican in history. In the year of Republican disaster, 1932, he polled better than 15,000,000 votes.

Mr. Borah is a popular hero to large sections of the electorate. His name has been a household word for nearly a generation. He is possessed of a power of eloquence and persuasion which some believe has been equaled in no other American since Bryan.

No other aspirant pretends to command similar qualities. Arriving by two distinctly separate routes, these two men are conceded in almost every quarter to be assured of a headstart over the field, if they desire to start at all.

Guesses About Hoover
The general surmise among the politicians is that Mr. Hoover will not run; but this conclusion does not appear to be based on actual information.

It arises quite naturally from a recognition of the extreme difficulties of a political comeback after the sweeping defeat of 1932. It arises from a belief that, with a large section of his party actively antagonistic, Mr. Hoover could not hope to be nominated, or elected if he were nominated.

Certainly there are abundant signs that the former President himself has put irrevocably aside all possibility of a "vindication" nomination.

He is not out enrolling delegates, but he is speaking directly to prospective delegates and saying plainly that if the voters had known what the Roosevelt administration intended to do, the Republican ticket would have won in 1932.

Confusions About Borah
There is greater doubt among the political wisecracks about Mr. Borah. Always difficult to predict, his conduct recently has been highly suspicious to his enemies.

Assumptions that he will not run are based, as in the case of Mr. Hoover, on a conviction that he could not win. It might be possible for him to sweep out the primaries and still be thrown out at the convention by the old-line party leaders who have been affronted for years by his independence of party control.

Assumptions that he will run are based on his well-known ambition to be President, on his continued refusal to say he will not be a candidate, on hints from his friends that he will bear watching, on his willingness to keep himself and his views conspicuously before the public.

Presumably Mr. Borah will have to choose definitely before Mr. Hoover does, because any Borah candidacy must count on amassing its major strength in the spring primaries; but even so, many weeks of waiting and guessing seem in prospect, to the continued confusion of the other aspirants.

Renfro was charged with two counts of assault, the second count involving Carl Stark. He was cleared of the second charge by the verdict. According to testimony at the trial, Renfro stabbed Mr. Sheppard several times through the arm and chest during a fight at a cafe near Sunset Beach.

HEARST RAPS U.S. TAXING PROGRAM

Publisher Declares He
'Can't Afford Luxury'
of State Levies

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24. (AP)—Bristling criticism of taxation in the United States as "intolerable and unreasonable" echoed today from the vast San Simeon ranch estate of William Randolph Hearst, who declared he intends to close the place and spend most of his time in New York to escape double state income taxes.

"I simply cannot afford to be a resident of California as well as a resident of New York, nor can anybody else," the publisher said, pointing out that he has maintained legal voting residence in the Eastern state for the past 30 years.

"The California law would make me a resident if I spent over six months in California," he continued.

"Can't Afford 'Luxury'"
"Then I would have to pay a 15 per cent income tax in California, in addition to the lesser income tax in New York, and the extremely heavy federal taxes. I do not see how I can afford the luxury of all this taxation."

Mr. Hearst said he planned to close the San Simeon home before the end of the year, but will continue to operate his cattle business.

"The cows," he explained, "are a little more fortunate than we humans are in this respect. They can continue to enjoy the glorious climate of California without being subjected to quite confiscatory taxation, although goodness knows they are taxed plenty at that."

Calling Them Intolerable
Describing the federal taxes as "intolerable," Mr. Hearst asserted "the treasury department holds a gun to your head and you either come across or get taken for a ride."

His statement, given to the Associated Press in answer to inquiries about his threatened exodus, said, "No one can tell how many more political parasites may have to be supported at the public expense, or what tricky cards the New Deal may be expected to extract from the bottom of a stacked deck."

Answering another query, Mr. Hearst said:

Likes England
"No, I do not think taxation in England is at all comparable with taxation in the United States. Taxation in England was very heavy after the war, but it is being continually reduced there, while here it is being constantly increased."

"Moreover, in England you have the one set of taxes to pay, while here you have the federal taxes, and on top of them the state's tax, and Lord knows how many other layers of taxes, with new ones being added as fast as the irresponsible minds of the political plunderbugs can prevent them."

CHICAGO INVITES MOVIE INDUSTRY
CHICAGO, Oct. 24. (AP)—The movie industry had an invitation from Mayor Edward J. Kelly today to settle in Chicago if, as has been rumored, the producers start a movement from California in protest against taxes they consider too high.

"Chicago and the metropolitan area have all the facilities the movies would need," Mayor Kelly said. "We have a lake front, miles of beaches, and skyscrapers."

FLORIDA INVITES
HEARST THERE
TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 24. (AP)—Florida today sent an invitation to William Randolph Hearst to move his residence from California to this state.

It carried the name of Gov. Dave Sholtz, and was announced at the governor's office here. In it was a statement of taxation, a discussion of climate, the state's financial condition, and the statement that here he "may live in comfort, free from the embarrassment of confiscatory taxation."

F.D.R. READY TO DISCUSS THE WAR

President Arrives In Washington After Vacation Tour

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24. (AP)—Barely off his train, the vacation-rested President plunged today into an immediate discussion of the Italo-Ethiopian situation and America's attitude toward it.

Many other things were on his schedule, too, but a talk with Secretary Hull overshadowed the rest. Mr. Hull, along with Mrs. Roosevelt and Secretaries Roper and Morgenthau, met the President at the train and had a brief talk with him.

There was no indication as to when an American reply would be dispatched to a League of Nations' communication asking for this government's reaction to its program of sanctions against Italy.

Peace Reply Predicted
It was believed, however, the President would enunciate again America's desire for peace and a determination to keep out of any foreign conflict.

Secretary Ickes and Harry L. Hopkins, two of the principals in the works relief undertaking who accompanied the President on his cruise, left the special train for their offices along with Mr. Roosevelt's reaction to its program of sanctions against Italy.

The President's stack of mail awaiting him at the executive offices included a number of replies to the letter he sent to congressmen asking reports on conditions.

Going to Hyde Park
Stephen T. Early, a secretary, estimated 8000 replies had been received. They were coming at the rate of about 800 a day, he added. There was no comment on the nature of the replies.

Finding the White House still under repairs, Mr. Roosevelt plans to leave the city next week for his home in Hyde Park, New York, to remain over election day, the following Tuesday, when he will vote.

On Saturday he plans to cruise down Chesapeake Bay and participate in the dedication of a new bridge at Cambridge, Md., built with public works funds.

HITS DOG, GOES TO HOSPITAL

N. M. Germain, 20, 704 West Fifth street, Santa Ana, is in the Orange county hospital suffering from a fractured skull, all because of a dog. Hospital attendants reported that his condition is serious.

At 5 p. m. yesterday, Mr. Germain was riding his motorcycle, and as he attempted to turn off of Minter street into Fifth street, he ran over a large dog. The impact caused him to lose control of the motorcycle, and he was thrown to the pavement.

Santa Ana police had him removed to the Santa Ana Valley hospital. He was later taken to the Orange county hospital.

BRITAIN BIDS 4 POWERS TO NAVAL MEET

Limitation Conference
Is Scheduled for
London Dec. 2

LONDON, Oct. 24. (AP)—The British government sent out invitations today for a conference of the great naval powers on naval limitation to be held at London, Dec. 2.

Thus the government set in motion a new move for naval restriction directly on the heels of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's announcement that he wants the country to give him a mandate for rearmament in the elections to the House of Commons Nov. 14.

The naval conference, which the British government expects will be headed by the ambassadors of the United States, Japan, France and Italy, and representatives of Great Britain, will meet 24 hours before the new parliament is called in after tomorrow's dissolution of the present parliament.

The British dominions will be included in the parley, which otherwise will be restricted to the signatories of the Washington naval treaty of 1922 which expires at the end of 1936.

In announcing that formal invitations to the conference had been delivered to the various ambassadors today, the British government let it be known it is optimistic that beneficial results may accrue from the parley, either from an agreement on construction by the various powers or on a maximum degree of naval limitation.

The conference will meet, however, under the shadow of Japan's demand for parity with the United States and Great Britain, to which neither has agreed. It was understood here that, in indicating its willingness to attend the conference, Japan made specific reservations on this point.

Challenging parents to build their own characters as good examples for their children, Judge Martin De Vries of Long Beach spoke before 65 fathers and mothers gathered in room 33 of Lathrop Junior High school Tuesday evening.

Worth-while qualities of character were those stressed by Christ, the speaker said. Honesty in little as well as big things; active intelligence in development and progress; good citizenship, standing for the right regardless of cost and appreciation of poetry, good music and beautiful pictures were enumerated by the speaker as being worth-while attributes of a person.

Not police officers, said the speaker, are to blame for the lax law enforcement, but the inertia of the thinking class of people. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

S. O. S. Club Has Pretty Luncheon

One of the prettiest recent luncheon parties of the S. O. S. club was enjoyed when Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh entertained her fellow club members at an autumn harvest party in her home on West Santa Clara avenue Tuesday.

The luncheon table was centered with a fat pumpkin out of which cascaded clusters of harvest fruits in graceful arrangement on a bed of yellow and flame-hued leaves. Four jack-o-lanterns lighted the scene, and miniature pumpkin candy-baskets and placards added to the Halloween effect.

From the yellow melon balls in her cocktail course through the delicious entree dishes and dessert of pumpkin pie, whipped cream-topped, with coffee, the hostess selected a menu in keeping with her orange color motif. Her daughter, Mrs. Earl P. Holsington (Virginia Slabaugh) of Hollywood, assisted in serving.

Two special guests for the day were Mrs. A. H. Walsh and her sister, Mrs. E. G. Myers, Omaha friends of the Slabaughs, who with their families have recently come to Santa Ana to live.

All the club members were present excepting Mrs. Wyckhoff Hoxie, who is traveling in the East. They were Mesdames A. M. Gardner, E. E. Keach, C. A. Vance, T. E. Stephenson, E. M. Nealey and J. E. Gowen.

Mrs. Chester Fisher and Mrs. Samuel Roberts assisted Mrs. Dady in serving.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

Does an early musical education have any influence on the life of a child?

Mrs. Omar Carrillo: I think instruction on some kind of instrument is good for any child. Even if he doesn't play later in life, it will help his appreciation of music and broaden his interest in artistic things.

Miss Mildred Marchant: Music instruction of any sort develops thinking powers of children. Particularly piano playing students, who are required to use involved thought processes, rank higher on an average, than any other class of students. Music instruction is an excellent way to constructively develop a child's emotional sense and to give him fine, high emotional expression.

Mrs. V. C. Shidder: Early music training teaches a child to better understand and appreciate the finer things of life. Rarely indeed has a degenerate had in his early training the opportunity for musical instruction.

Mary Stoddard Are All Girls Petty About Disfigurements? Asks Boy Whose Scars Isolate Him

By MARY STODDARD

What manner of friends? We're forced to ask that question to the waiting world after reading a letter which found its way to our daily mail-bag.

Read it for yourself and weep that the "fairer and gentler sex" with which he has come in contact are such flimsy creatures.

Dear Miss Stoddard: I have waited a long time trying to decide to write you. You have done so much good in helping others, but my case is quite different from most you print.

I am a young man in my early 20's, a gentleman in all ways. If I do say so myself—come from a refined family and all my life I have enjoyed clean sports and took part in them until a few years ago.

I had an accident which left me badly scarred. Now when I say "badly scarred" I don't mean hideous or deep or disgustingly disfigured, but enough that I notice it has made a difference with my friends. Not the men, but the girls. All normal fellows enjoy companionship of girl friends, yet I seem cut off from such friendship through an accident which was no fault of mine.

Why can't young folks who have suffered the same way, in some way get together and enjoy each other's company?

I have heard of crippled girls and girls with birthmarks, as well as young men who are really lonely. They seem to feel more than just loneliness.

I dance, drive a car, enjoy shows, roller skating and all clean sports, still I am alone to enjoy it. I work steady in these times and this is something. My sister says I am self-conscious, but I am not. I just wonder if there are other young folks that feel the same way and are lonely for the same cause.

Sometimes it makes me hard and bitter. But Miss Stoddard, don't tell me to go out and mix with others. My grandmother often tells me that.

But you just ask someone in my fix that has tried "mixing" how it works! It doesn't.

Now the question is what am I going to do about it? I don't want to grow old alone and lonely.

LONESOME JIM.
Jim, my boy, your case is formed by a combination of several things. Your sister and your grandmother are partly right. Your slight affliction HAS made you self-conscious and perhaps unconsciously you have shunned feminine company which you would seek. You SHOULD go out and mix with those of your own age. With the qualifications you have, you could be mighty popular with the opposite sex in the right crowd. A flapper might not want to be seen with you, but a real girl would be proud of you.

TAXES—PAINLESS AND PAINFUL

TWO prominent Republicans have recently denounced the spread and overlapping of invisible taxes.

Said Herbert Hoover in a speech at Oakland:

"If it (the federal deficit) is paid by taxes, those taxes must fall on the so-called economic middle class and the poor. The poor will pay out of indirect taxes, hidden in the rent and everything they buy. And when the price of the necessities of life to those who have but a living wage is advanced by hidden taxes, those people are not sharing a surplus with the government. They have no surplus . . .

"The economic middle class—whether they be farmers or workers at the bench or the desk, professional or business men—produce 80 per cent of the national income. They, like the poor, will pay by indirect taxes in the cost of living and in addition, they will pay again and again in direct taxes.

"No matter where you place taxes, the bulk of them must come from those who work and produce."

Said Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, in a letter to Senator Borah, discussing Republican strategy:

"Approximately 30 taxes are paid in part by a pair of shoes and some 40 or more taxes find their way in a greater or lesser degree into the cost of a loaf of bread.

"We must explain to the people in clear terms that every article they use in their daily life carries in its cost a multitude of indirect taxes, for a large per cent of the price of bread, meat, and clothes represents not merely necessary government functions but the extravagance and follies of government."

THE sentiments here expressed we hope will often be repeated. For there is a need of a greater tax consciousness in our country, where the federal government derives two-thirds of its revenue from hidden excises, where state legislatures last year passed 1400 new tax laws, where countless local units lap one levy over another, where tax gatherers get in each other's way and devour more and more of the substance of the people.

Every state has its own problems, and so has each of the multitude of local units, but all along the line are opportunities to cut down the horde of tax collectors and simplify the tax structure.

So far as the federal government is concerned, we believe, the cause of economy and simplicity can best be served by eliminating the so-called painless sales and nuisance taxes and substituting direct levies which the people will see and feel. All of the needed revenue lost by abolition of these hidden excises could be obtained by broadening the base of income taxation, adding millions of middle-class persons to the income tax rolls, and graduating the levy from a small tax on small incomes to a very large tax on very large incomes. The same reform could well be applied to inheritance and gift taxation.

Such a tax system would take a much smaller portion of small incomes than is now taken by the multiplicity of invisible taxes. It would be taxation on the basis of ability to pay. And its painfulness and visibility would act as an automatic brake on government extravagance.

It's getting so a pedestrian is just a man who is here today and gone tomorrow.

WORSE THAN WAR

AS THE war god stalks through Ethiopia we might remind ourselves that his rival is abroad in our own peaceful land. In fact, automobiles have killed and injured more Americans than wars!

Records of America's seven wars reveal a loss of 244,357 killed in action or dead of wounds.

Census figures reveal that between 1920 and 1935 automobile accidents killed 388,936.

Thus, the auto killed 143,679 more Americans in 15 years than war killed in 159 years.

Last year the automobile took 36,000 lives, permanently disabled 105,000, and temporarily disabled 1,500,000. Chief of Police Howard told the Rotary club Tuesday that before the year is over enough people to populate a city the size of Santa Ana will have been killed by careless driving.

The economic loss from these deaths and injuries is estimated at $1,580,000,000. Some idea of the extent of carnage on the highways and streets of this country may be gained by recalling that the dead and injured in auto accidents last year equaled the combined populations of Nevada, Wyoming, Idaho and Montana. Imagine the terror that would sweep the land if some foreign foe penetrated the West and in one year killed or injured all the people of four states.

Just as war can be conquered so can this domestic foe. A study by the National Safety Council shows that those states with standard auto license laws have reduced their motor vehicle deaths more than 20 per cent since 1926, while states lacking such laws suffered increases ranging from 11 to 40 per cent.

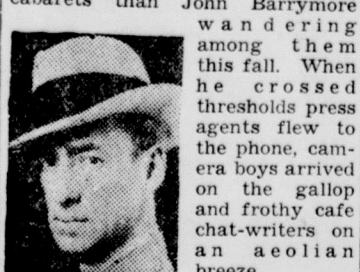

Gov. Hoffman of New Jersey recently called upon the delegates to the National Safety Council in Louisville to work for a 35 per cent reduction in motor vehicle deaths in their states by 1940. Standardized laws, strict enforcement of them and an awakened public opinion can accomplish this.

Speed maniacs, drunken drivers, jaywalkers and day-dreamers must be taught that streets and highways are not theirs to turn into shambles. They belong to the public, and they must be made safe for the public.

Whimsies

of O. O. McIntyre

No one in years has provided more publicity for night clubs and cabarets than John Barrymore wandering among them this fall. When he crossed the threshold press agents flew to the phone, camera boys arrived on the gallop and frothy cafe chat-writers on an aeolian breeze.

Here to fore members of the Royal Family have held some what aloof from those nocturnal cracklings that fuel the Broadway banfire. Their appearance was confined to snaffling a light snack at the Algonquin or perhaps a drop in at a private party.

But the screen's great lover, in casting off traditional restraint, went the distance. He allowed himself to be piloted to the front row tables and offered no protests over the photographic clamor. And was equally agreeable about rising to bow when celebrities were introduced.

He had come to town in advance of reputed marital holiday and entered into the spirit of the sudden freedom with abandon. He even donned the customary paper cap and twirled the rattlers when that peer of hoop-la arrived. A Barrymore became one of the gang!

The frigidity of the Barrymores was strikingly illustrated at a private gathering I attended a number of years ago. Several celebrities were called upon for impromptu bits. Tallulah Bankhead's time came and she, curtsying, asked Ethel Barrymore's permission to give an imitation of the great lady's "That's all there is!" It was accomplished with delicate exaggeration. Everybody joined the applause save Miss Barrymore.

Idiosyncrasies of dress are not always confined to the gentler sex. George Jean Nathan has his breast pocket installed on the right side.

Roy Howard wears patent leather spats with evening attire. Bainbridge Colby affects low collars with full dress. Paul Whiteman carries a cigarette case with a dangle in his right hand trousers pocket. Irving Cobb sports his wrist watch on the inside. Corey Ford wears a rattlesnake belt. Sinclair Lewis totes a monocle, but only uses it when clowning. All of Michael Arlen's suspenders are green. Gershwin has cuff links to match his neckties. Frank Sullivan goes for pencil-striped suits and Fred Astaire changes neckties several times a day.

Speaking of neckties, Schiaparelli sends me, from Paris, what she calls her latest "cravat creation." It's a four-in-hand of the white silk on which is printed in red ink a crazy quilt of newspaper headlines depicting sensational events from all parts of the world. As an oddity it's odd but a shade too hotly-totsty for even a dandy's necktie. As a matter of fact, after years of falling for every sort of shade in ties from salmon pink to wet grass green I'm beginning to hanker for white-collared shirts and plain black four-in-hands. I've had my fling.

Those with curbed color complexes will sympathize with King Alfonso of Spain. As ruler he had to slip off to Paris incognito to sport the giddy apparel he loved. After he was booted off the throne the Royalists warned him all hope of kinging it again depended upon a sedate deportment, especially in dress. So Alfonso expresses his flair only among a few intimates. In privacy of his quarters: Wild red, yellow and green house pajamas and robes. In public: Costumes of aboriginal darkness.

HIDES ONE WIFE Having too many wives, Mirza Karins of Meshinian, Tajikistan, solved the problem by forcing one to live in a mountain canyon, hidden from the villagers. For six years the woman dwelt there, existing on the meager food supplies he brought every three months. Karins has been arrested on a charge of bigamy.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—When the President disembarks from the Houston, the most pressing problem facing him will be the disastrous snarl of the works-relief plan to put 3,500,000 men to work "by Nov. 1."

This chaotic condition is an open book. Known to only a few insiders, however, is the fact that the much-ballyhooed program for the elimination of railroad grade crossings is virtually at a dead halt.

Out of the $200,000,000 to have been spent, only $2,000,000 has been allocated.

First snarl was the ruling that $1140 must be spent per man per year on works-relief jobs. This left insufficient funds for materials. After weeks of delay the order finally was modified.

Then it was discovered that a joker had been slipped into the works-relief bill by the railroad lobby exempting the carriers from bearing any of the cost of grade-crossing elimination.

This put the entire financial burden on state and federal governments.

The states' share was fixed as the land necessary for grade crossing projects. The result has been a chaos of haggling between state authorities, property owners and railroads. To date, only Ohio and Texas have succeeded in getting under way—solely because they were able to persuade some of the railroads to put up a part of the cost.

Note:—The railroads are anxious to keep secret their cooperative attitude in Ohio and Texas because they fear if it became known, other states would demand similar concessions.

Remarkable Remarks

I am not in favor of sacrificing the life of a single American boy to settle all the boundary lines in Europe.—Senator William E. Borah.

Congress isn't in session; why shouldn't there be a breathing spell?—Henry Ford.

There is only room for two "isms" in this country. They are Patriotism and Americanism.—M. A. Harlan, national commander, Disabled American Veterans.

The public will get what it wants, but it won't bother much about the legislator who votes against its wishes. It figures that one legislator is about as bad as another.—Franklin Moore, Harrisburg, Pa., addressing hotel men's convention.

Marriage and careers don't mix. But if I ever try to mix them I won't marry a handsome man nor an athletic because the risks are too great.—Judith Allen, screen actress.

The day of the old battle ax in the city's educational system is definitely past. However, teachers need not be Follies beauties, but they must be pretty.—W. H. Andersen, Rockford, Ill., school superintendent.

Let us carry on the good that the past gave us. The best of that good is the spirit of America. And the spirit of America is the spirit of inquiry, or readjustment, or improvement.—President Roosevelt.

NAVAL BASE

ONE reason the French were so reluctant to pledge British use of their naval bases in case of war in the Mediterranean, is the fact that Toulon, their chief naval station, is only 140 miles from an Italian air base.

British vessels in Toulon would be a tempting excuse for an Italian air raid which the French don't want to risk.

SANCTIONS BEHIND tempestuous European debates over a naval blockade against Italy is one all-important fact. Geneva has just begun to react that sanctions mean nothing without a blockade to enforce them.

For years the League of Nations has been humming blithely along, pointing with pride to its machinery for imposing economic and financial boycotts against an aggressor.

But only within the last few days have the Geneva statesmen suddenly realized that, in order to enforce such a boycott, most nations require special legislation.

President Roosevelt, for instance, could not have declared his arms embargo had not the senate rushed through the neutrality act during the closing days of the last congressional session.

Argentina, for instance, as a member of the League, started to apply sanctions; then found she had no laws empowering her president to cut off trade with Italy.

Her congress has just adjourned, so it will be next April before a law can be passed permitting Argentine sanctions against Italy.

Many European nations are in the same fix. Furthermore, parliaments are notoriously inclined to think of re-election rather than world peace. And if severance of trade relations with Italy is going to harm local industry, cause unpleasant political reverberations, new legislation may wait even longer than April.

Meanwhile Mussolini moves on in Abyssinia.

ABSENT TREATMENT

HARRY HOPKINS has hired M. R. Werner, New York author, to write a running account of what progress works-relief is making. "I don't expect to go out in the field much," says Werner. "I can see the works from Washington. I wrote the life of Barnum without meeting him, and the life of Bryan after meeting him only once as a kid."

"Before I finished my book on Tammany Hall I tried to go down and look the place over. But it was the Fourth of July and there were so many policemen standing around that I got frightened and went away."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

GERMAN protests against the radical activities of Martha Dodd, daughter of the American ambassador in Berlin seem to have been effective. "The Anvil," a "proletarian fiction magazine," advertised in advance, publication of a "Communist love story" by Martha Dodd called "Red Wedding Morning." But the story was never published. The Italian war chest has just been augmented by $50,000,000, secured when Mussolini forced his subjects to sell their French bonds. . . . Newest admiral in the Kentucky navy is Charles Taussig, one of the few original brain trusters who has continued in the complete good graces of the President. (Copyright, 1935)

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Peace Requires More Than a Gesture

LOVERS of peace rejoice because the league has approved sanctions against an aggressor nation and because the President has issued a proclamation of neutrality. Rejoicing is premature, for neither of these measures is necessarily a guarantee of world peace. Both of them may easily contribute to a state of war.

FIFTY-ONE nations lined up against one seems like heavy odds. But Mussolini may well count the whole setup. Four great powers, strongest on their respective continents, America, Brazil, Germany and Japan, are not league members and are not bound by any agreements.

Each of these four nations jealously reserves to itself all rights of action in the present crisis. They have made no commitments. None can doubt their readiness to do as their own interests dictate.

AUSTRIA and Hungary refuse to accept sanctions against Italy. Switzerland reserves freedom of action. Sweden agrees to restrict Italian imports (chiefly wine and fruit), but objects to limiting Swedish exports to Italy. All of these countries, together with Germany, would offer unimpeded flow of goods into Italy.

Probably Russia would never tolerate the enrichment of Germany by any very strict embargo on Italian commerce. Fifty-one nations may sound like an imposing array, but most of them suffer.

You might get my wrist watch from the repairer's, and if you are not too busy, look for some of those little ash trays like the Marshalls always have on their card table, and be sure not to forget a package of Camembert cheese, and don't fail to call up the dentist and make an appointment for little Homer, and, oh yes, you might take that lampshade I bought last week and exchange it for one with a yellow border." . . . ### HIPPO CHARGES FERRY

Angered because it had been harpooned a few days before, a hippopotamus lay in ambush and suddenly attacked a ferry boat operating on the Mpaoigoma swamp, a well-known Uganda waterway, near Nairobi. Charge after charge was made by the infuriated beast, which nearly boarded the vessel, the water being shallow so that it could obtain a foothold. Six natives, armed with spears, fought the invader until the arrival of a European, who shot it, amid songs and cheers from the deck of another vessel speeding to the rescue.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town
With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Everybody wanted to talk about the weather. Incidents of the storm were as numerous as fleas on a tramp dog. The housewife was mourning the loss of a fine tree, the automobilist telling how his car was blown off the highway, business men explaining interior damage by a display window blowing in instead of out, orange rancher viewing fallen fruit, awnings awry, shade trees wrecked and roofs lifted. The oldest inhabitant can tell you when there was something worse, but most of the folk I encountered said this one was bad enough.

Oil derricks were laid low, walnut trees uprooted, orange foliage torn from their moorings, and taken in the large widespread damage inflicted, but most of the towns are still on the map, business went forward with but slight interruption, and it is remarkable how quickly people adjust themselves to the caprice of nature. What remained the longest was the complaint against the weather, and it didn't change the situation. Maybe it would have been better to have used up the time being thankful that the damage was no greater. There's only two things to do when a storm comes. Either complain or pray. Inasmuch as the former returns no dividends why not invest in the latter?

If you came downtown with a hat you were lucky if you went home with it. Most of the fellows I saw anchored the headgear by placing one hand on top. You were lucky if you didn't lose a hand. Most pedestrians were uneasy for fear some sign might blow into their face. There was danger that they would leave their anchorage, and if they did it would be too late for the pedestrian to readjust his position. Altogether it was an uncomfortable day, one of the few which visit Southern California during the year. Surprise was expressed that miniature of my type was able to get downtown. My trouble was getting back home.

There was an oasis in the dry proceedings when A. J. Cruickshank came in to say hello, and explain how he defeated the blizzard, beat the storm to the ranger's cabin, incidents of his three-day seclusion, and his hard trip walking down hill when most people think the going would be easy. A. J. wasn't worried about himself, but was worried about the worry he knew his absence was creating. It was a case of all's well that ends well.

Just at this point a peaceful message comes in from Clyde Horton, who is on a Grace liner in the Balboa canal zone. It cost him six cents to get the message to me, but if he thinks it was worth it I'm satisfied. As a diversion it came at the right time, because I was fairly well inflated from the wind storm. That's going a long way for solace, but it was welcome.

Encountered George Jeffrey from the Irvine section and he wasn't enthusiastic about the storm. His estimate of damage to the orange crop traveled all the way from 15 to 50 per cent, irrespective of official estimates. Ed. Backus and Horace Benjamin came over from Anaheim to see if the town was still here, and what they thought about wind damage wasn't far from Jeffrey's estimate. The trouble with the new oranges which are on the ground is that you can't replace 'em for 12 months. That's a long time between orange crops.

Someone told me the wind velocity was 60 miles an hour. They might just as well have made it a hundred. I was ready to believe it. If there is anything that gives Orange county the jitters it's one of those stray storms which sweep through the county without invitation, or a license plate.

Approached from the blind side, and who do you think issues a challenge that I take a cup of coffee with him, but Gene Kahen, formerly of Santa Ana, now of Los Angeles. When I inquire why coffee, Gene tells me that a friend of his committed to his care the supervision of two coffee shops, and he's got the habit. So over the coffee we discuss times that were and are not now, a few little intimacies, and then we finally reach the profane subject of termites. Those darn little cusses are the only fellows who pay no attention to the depression. They just keep digging along; pay no attention to union rules. They are determined to eat their way through. So Gene is looking for a termite expert, who will guarantee to do a little extermination on his own hook.

The last rancher I talked to said he wasn't in favor of a desert wind for at least another thirty days, and if it didn't come at all he would be satisfied.
